Keeping Up . . .

With Uplanders

By V. V. P.

JUVENILE PROBLEM

Upland can boast of the fact there is no juvenile problem here. "At present only 10 juvenile cases are on the police records," Police Chief Ralph H. Palmer told city officials the other day. And he added the statement "There are no juvenile gangs in Upland."

Thus, a full-time juvenile officer will not be added to the police department.

At the same time, many people in this community are doing something about the prevention of juvenile problems. Emphasis on all youth activities must be continued through the Scouts, ball games, skating rink, churches and all allied organizations.

ABOUT THE HOSPITAL

"Dear Mr. Paine:

I am one of the many citizens of this community who are deeply grateful to the management of San Antonio Community hospital and with cause.

"For years I took care of an ailing brother-in-law who had no money except his old age pension. He was in a serious physical condition due to an operation which had been performed in a San Bernardino hospital in 1947. Something had gone wrong of which the family had not been informed and his condition became steadily worse year by year.

"Our hospital here took him in, operated, gave him tender care and blood transfusions. Three splendid surgeons battled to save his life and one of them got no sleep. In fact, he spent one entire night at the man's bedside.

"Needless to say, the man, Fedor Hermes, was deeply grateful and I shall never cease to bless those good men and our fine hospital. Money was not mentioned. In fact there was none but I never saw busy people work harder to save the life of a sick old man, or treat one kinder.

"I disagree in its entirety with the letter written last week by your nameless subscriber and I hope you will print this one of mine in just as prominent a column as you did his.

Sincerely,
Marie Hermes,
1057 Wash. Blvd., Upland"

ABOUT EGGS

Egg production is increasing very rapidly in this area — but probably no more so than throughout the state. And the financial outlook is not bright. California's expansion in the number of hens and the eggs per hen has been more rapid than its increase in population in the last 15 years, we are told.

While California ranked ninth in the nation in income from eggs in 1940, we are now second.

Population increased at least 80 per cent in those 15 years but egg production increased 260 per cent. In 1940, California had to import about 40 per cent of its eggs to meet the demand. Today we produce more than we can consume in the state and thus we must export.

Joe Hertel, farm advisor, is not at all encouraging. He told us the other day "it looks that with surplus eggs, production here in the next decade may never again be as profitable as it has been the last 10 years."

FACTS

Population of the United States increases at the rate of one person each 11.58 seconds. Total of 1,928,430 men have been inducted into the armed services since Sept., 1950. On U. S. coins before, the inscription, "In God We Trust," will henceforth appear on U.S. paper money. U. S. military warehouses now have reserve equipment valued at $20,000,000. Total of 1,900,514 U. S. troops are stationed over seas.

NO TELEVISION

Do you want a few hours of your life to change slightly?

Then, have the picture tube of your television burn out over a long holiday weekend.

We are one of the families that boasts about: "No, we don't let the television control our lives". And we don't believe we do.

Nevertheless, when it comes time for favorite programs, one cannot help but think of them - then quietly read or turn to the radio. We did renew acquaintances with some familiar radio programs we hadn't heard for months.

Sure, we can get along without T.V. . . .but still, how about a few innings of the baseball game . . . .and besides this is the big week for the Hollywood-San Diego series. Oh, well, we will do some more reading.

We noted this classified adv. the other day:

"Wanted — Apartment large enough to keep young wife from going home to mother but small enough to keep mother from coming to live with us."

Mr. and Mrs. Albert T. Graham 2660 N. Mountain Ave., accompanied by Stephen, Keran and Timmie, visited members of their family at San Diego over the weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Hartley have returned from a vacation spent at Lake Arrowhead, where they visited Mr. and Mrs. Jack Singer. Their daughter, Susanne accompanied them.

1901 Cadillac To Be Used In Benefit Event

By Gerry McGeer

San Bernardino's first automobile, the prized possession of Clifford H. Thomas and H. Webster Thomas of the Thomas vineyards at Cucamonga will run again July 10 at a benefit for the Casa Colina Crippled Children Convalescent center near Chino.

This 1901 Cadillac horseless carriage, actually the 13th of its famous name, will be in a parade and later on display with 40 other priceless old vehicles at the third anniversary outing of the Southern California Horseless Carriage Club. Both the Thomas brothers are members. Each possesses another valuable relic. Clifford Thomas has a '20 Mercer raceabout, the sports car of that era, and Webster Thomas has a 1923 Lansea, a flashy Italian sports car.

The history of the Cadillac is as interesting as its setting in the Thomas Winery where it is displayed with antique mementos of the vintner's art.

Pioneer Had It

It was purchased by a great uncle of the Thomas brothers, the widely known George D. Haven, the man who pioneered Cucamonga and planted the first vineyards there.

Grapes had been grown on the site of the winery since 1839 from the vines the Franciscan padres brought from Spain. The history of the spot goes back to Indian Times because springs made it a natural place of settlement. Only a few acres of grapes had been planted up to 1870 when the Cucamonga Homestead company moved into the area.

It was in 1881 that George D. Haven and his partner Milliken embarked on what was known as Haven's folly. Haven contended that the area could be used for grapes without irrigation.

He cleared the desert land and planted 540 acres in wine grapes. His success led to the development of one of the finest vineyard areas in the world.

The Thomas brothers as George D. Haven's heirs came

Sidewalk Policy Up For Decision

Decision may be reached tonight by Upland city councilmen on the policy of requiring construction of sidewalks on the Euclid avenue residential district — and as the district is developed northward.

At least, the officials had previously set tonight's meeting as the time for further discussion on the long-standing question of sidewalks or no sidewalks. Division of opinion on the question prevails among the councilmen-- as well as among some of the residents.

Carnot K. Valiton, 1412 N. Euclid Ave. is among the residents who believes it would be more safe for school children to be trained to cross Euclid at specific intersections and go to the Sierra Vista school, east of Euclid, with as little time as possible spent on Euclid.

"I believe it would be more advisable to not require sidewalks on upper Euclid," he said. "Such a plan would tend to encourage children to get to First or Second Aves. and proceed to the school campus."

Other residents, however, believe that for a long-range policy it would be better to require sidewalks as new frontage is developed.

Barr Continues As School Head

Allan S. Barr continues as chairman of the Upland board of education with Mrs. Raymond O. Kay, vice chairman and Dr. John W. Skewis, clerk.

Reorganization of the board was effected at the annual meeting Friday. Other members are Jarvis J. Leman and Mrs. Dean Engle. Mr..Leman and Dr. Skewis were reelected at the May balloting.

Clarence Jacobs Confers With New Lodge Officers

Incoming officers of Upland, Pomona and Claremont Odd Fellows lodges met Tuesday night with Clarence Jacobs, district deputy grand master, to discuss the district program for the coming year, at the Odd Fellows hall here.

The honor of installing new officers comes to Upland with Mr. Jacobs' elevation to the top district post. Euclid Lodge will furnish the installing team and the first installation will be at that lodge on July 19.

On that date incoming Noble Grand Louis Carpenter and Vice-Grand Chris Zimmerman will take office.

County's Oldest Car With Owner, Clifford Thomas, and Albert

Clifford H. Thomas and Albert, his American water spaniel, prepare for a ride in San Bernardino's oldest automobile, the 13th Cadillac made. The car is the prized possession of Mr. Thomas and his brother, Webster H. Thomas, and it attracts a great deal of attention at the Thomas Vineyards on Foothill Blvd., Cucamonga. Albert is another great attraction, especially with children. The almost human bird dog is a hunter par excellence and does his best to talk when asked to say something! Albert needed little persuading to get up on the front seat with his master.

Letter of Complaint is Answered

Hospital Record In Serving Area Cited

What the San Antonio Community hospital does for the community and victims of accidents and other patients is reviewed in a letter from Dr. A. A. Aita, administrator, to The Upland News.

Dr. Aita's letter was in response to a letter published last week in the "Keeping Up" column of this newspaper. His letter in full follows:

"The anonymous letter printed in The Upland News June 30, relative to the San Antonio Community Hospital, has been called to my attention. You will note that our letter bears a signature and it is expected that it will be given the same prominent space you so generously gave the unknown writer..

Half Charity

"I began my 25th year with this institution on June 22. I, therefore, feel that I am in a position to discuss its activities with some authority. During our service to the West End for 31 years, we have cared for more than 85,000 patients. In the year 1955, we will care for more than 2,000 accident cases. Less than half of these patients will be able to pay for this care -- the remainder will be charity. Two doctors from the accident panel are on call 24 hours of the day. Twenty-eight of them alternate on this service. For example, during this holiday weekend, 35 accident cases were treated, some operated upon, and, in the course of 12 hours (Saturday night) 19 pints of blood were used. Nursing care for accident cases is handled through the Central Service department, which is staffed around the clock. This department annexes the emergency room. First priority is given to the most critically ill. Injuries of a minor nature follow, as they should.

Care is Better

"That the care rendered our patients is far above the average is profoundly brought out year by year in our annual reports, with one of the lowest mortality rates in the country. To show that we are not the mercenary hospital described by your unknown writer, permit us to explain that we are one of two hospitals in Southern California not requiring a deposit upon ad-

18 Inches is Average

Rainfall Among Lightest as Season Closes

Average annual rainfall here since 1950 is 18.01 inches but the recent fiscal record season ending June 30 produced only 13.25 inches, according to a report yesterday from the Liberty Groves Operating Corp.

Any precipitation from now until June 30, 1956 will be recorded in the current year.

For the 12 months ending June 30, 1954, the total was 18.93 inches with 14.75 inches during the year ending June 30, 1953. The big rainfall year of the present decade ended in June 30, 1952 with 31.14 inches recorded. Other season ending totals follow: 1951, 8.80 inches and 1950, 21.24 inches.

It is commonly reported that the average rainfall here over a period of 50 years is 20 inches. This area has been the victim of a "dry cycle" in recent years. Based on records, therefore, the forecast might be for more rainfall.

Another subdivision in the "upper citrus" area is today planned on a tentative map.

The 10 acres at the northwest corner of Euclid Ave. and 19th St. is scheduled for residential development if the planning commission and city council approve the plans to be submitted later this month. Eighteen lots, each one half acre in size, are planned.

A portion of the 10 acres may also be the site of the proposed "upper" freeway and an easement is shown on the proposed map, alloting two lots as a part of the highway site.

Owner of the property is Morgan Stivers, Long Beach. J. O. Reeve, Pomona, prepared the engineering plans.

Kaiser Workers Get Pay Boost

Two million dollars in wage increases were added to local annual pay checks at the Kaiser Steel Co. plant when company and union officials announced their agreement Wednesday for an average 15 cent an hour increase. This is the same rate as negotiated last week by eastern steel companies and the United Steel Workers of America CIO.

Officials said the increase was made as of July 1 in accordance with a previous agreement, but that it would take two or three weeks to negotiate all details.

It was estimated that the majority of the employees would receive increases amounting to between $250 and $400 a year.

Mrs. Edna R. Swan has returned to her home, 621 N. Euclid Ave. and to her business after a 10-day vacation in Seattle, Wash. She went by airplane and a thrilling experience occured as the plane dipped low to enable the passengers to see Crater lake in Oregon. In Seattle, she was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. George Hazelton, former Upland residents. Mr. Hazelton is employed by the city of Seattle and Mrs. Hazelton by the Pacific Bank Note Co.

6,000 Motorists Daily Leave Freeway on Local Avenues

18,000 CARS ON FREEWAY EVERY DAY

About 6,000 motorists are daily commuters from here to the Los Angeles area.

At least, that number of eastbound cars leave the San Bernardino freeway between the Los Angeles county line and Euclid avenue, according to a report from L. F. Moore, traffic engineer for the California division of highways.

The total of 6,000 is reached by the analysis of an informal count conducted from time to time under Mr. Moore's direction.

The average daily number of motorists counted on the freeway at the Los Angeles county line is 18,000 and on the east side of Euclid at 12,000.

The difference is the number of cars that leave the freeway at such points as Central, Mountain and Euclid avenues.

Mr. Moore was specific in saying that during an average day 3,000 east-bound cars leave the freeway at Euclid. About 12,000 cars daily continue on the freeway from Euclid to where the freeway joins A street at Archibald avenue.

His count includes the number of cars on the west side of Euclid and on the east side.

Mr. Moore said the number of motorists using the freeway is increasing.

As to traffic on Foothill boulevard, the traffic engineer said the volume is now about what it was before the freeway was opened. On the opening of the freeway, Foothill traffic decreased but since then the volume has increased and Mr. Moore said it was today to the level of prior to opening of the freeway.

On July 17 and 18, a district-wide traffic count will be conducted here. Official checkers will be stationed at all local major intersections from 6 a.m. to 10 p.m. in an annual count of cars.

Clock's Removal Or Repair To Be Realized Soon

Something is going to be done to the battered framework of the "town's clock", now hanging from the vacated Bank of America building at Second Ave. and 9th St.

Andrew Crevolin, owner of the building, has authorized his local agent, Ralph H. Miller, to do something "if and when" permission is received from the former owners of the building.

Through The Upland News that permission was obtained yesterday.

Recognizing the damaged, abandoned clock framework on the community's principal business corner was no asset, The Upland News started sometime ago to get permission for removal of the battered iron structure.

Advised that the property department of the Bank of America in Los Angeles had passed on to the new owner all responsibility for the structure, Mr. Miller definitely said yesterday "that something will be done soon". He said that either the present framework would be removed or a new clock would be installed where the historic timepiece served for so many years.

"How would people in the community like a new clock?" he asked.

"I am not sure just what steps will be taken to change the clock situation but I am certain the improvement will be made at an early date."

While the new owner is prohibited from making alterations or placing any sign on the structure for a specified period, the permission from the former owner has cleared the way for something to be done about the "clock".

Figures reported by Mr. Cranmer include secured and unsecured personal property only and not the public utility property. The state board of equalization assessed public utility property and a report on this will be received early next month.

Unique Play, Padua Hills Has Fine Players

A delightful experience is in store for those who haven't been to Padua Hills lately. Visitors to this area must surely be most grateful at the opportunity of seeing the excellent unique Mexican Players whose newest play Calle Del Beso would do credit to Broadway.

There's always a dividend given by the Mexican Players. During dinner and after the play entertainment consists of songs and dancers. After the play the audience has an opportunity of getting into the act by joining in the games that are set up under the olive trees.

One of the pretty young entertainers is Josephine Navarro of Upland. Miss Navarro is a graduate of Chaffey High school and has been with the players since her graduation in 1954. Her home in Upland is at 1188 Myrtle Dr.

Calle del Beso, the current play is a lively piece about love. The English translation of the title is, "Street of the Kiss". The street in question is literally narrow enough for lovers to exchange a kiss.

This happy situation is built to order for a pair of young lovers but the plot thickens when the girl's father, a widower, creates a scene in which the whole neighborhood joins.

This was the trail of the gold rush days which was built through the treacherous Fraser canyon, with cribbing built up with the stripped trees of the forest. Vestiges of this old road, built by the Royal Engineers, sent from London still remain. The road is still admired as an engineering feat.

Rev. and Mrs. Avery Musser and daughter, Lucille, are going to be Uplanders for the summer while the Rev. Musser takes a special course of study at Upland college. They had but stayed on learning of the summer educational opportunities at the local college.

Pastor Goes Back to Classroom; Stays in Upland for the Summer

The Rev. and Mrs. Avery Musser of Shippensburg, Pa., who came to Upland for a week, liked it so much they have extended their visit and are remaining for the summer.

As a result Rev. Musser, during his stay here, has exchanged his pulpit for a classroom desk and is taking a course in New Testament literature at Upland college under Dr. Henry Brubaker.

The Mussers and their 11 year old daughter Lucille are living in the Hawkinson home on East Arrow Hwy. during their stay here.

Mrs. Avery is a sister of John Martin, president of Upland college, but she has never been in Upland before. Her husband attended the General Conference of the Brethren in Christ church here eight years ago. When he came to this year's conference he brought the family with him.

While Rev. Musser finds the experience refreshing and delightful, as a series of substitute pastors take over his church, his studies in the classroom are not taking all his time.

He explained that, in Pennsylvania, as a sideline he has worked on what he called a baby chick farm. He finds the care of poultry in this area very different from Pennsylvania. In the east the fowl have to be raised in houses and he was fascinated to find that shelters suffice here.

He said the same difference applies to dairying. He was most interested in a visit he made to Experimental Farm at Cucamonga operated by the Upland Feed Company. Robert Carlson of the college has been showing him around.

Mrs. Musser is enjoying herself and is interested in the different food habits here. Californians she says eat more salads than the people do in Pennsylvania.

Lucille is the only member of the family who isn't completely happy about the extended stay in Upland. She likes all the new kinds of fruit in California but the fruit doesn't make up for the friends back home! She says she'll be very glad when she returns to Pennsylvania.

On July 14 at 9:30 a.m., Holy Eucharist will be celebrated with the Rev. Joseph A. Erickson, Jr., rector, as celebrant.

Missions Needed

5 More Years of Peace To Turn Tide In Asia

If there are five more years of peace, it is very likely the many countries in the Far east can be won to the side of the west, Dr. E. Pearce Hayes declared in his report on a recent missionary trip. He was the speaker before the combined congregations of the Upland Methodists and Presbyterians in the Methodist church Sunday morning.

Optimistically, he pictured possibilities among the Asians "if we give them what they want," and listed the items as follows: "recognition, understanding, sympathy and by our action prove to them that color makes no difference and to prove that what we say is the same as what we do."

Five more years of "no war" will enable the west to make plain "what we mean by Democracy and brotherhood and it will also let them see what is happening in China," Dr. Hays continued. A fluent speaker, and fresh from a close-up view of the nations near to Communist influence, Dr. Hayes said the greatest need is at least 25 new missionaries immediately to help teach the Democratic way and to answer the new interest for education.

"If we want peace, churches must stop "playing with missions' and make missions their real objective," he declared. He recited an experience of preaching to a group of former head hunters. He was told that for 20 years that head hunters had a bargain among themselves to observe the missionaries and other Christians. If the Christians' words and actions are "one," they agreed to give up their ancient religion and accept Christianity, they told Dr. Pearce.

And so, the head hunters are now Christians, Dr. Pearce said and declared that now "All Asia is watching Christians of the west."

Dr. Ralph W. Lee presided. The two churches will meet in joint services during July and August.

Silver is 10.5 times as heavy as water.

At Legion Meeting

Nisbet Tells Legion Of Legislative Bills

Hope for an end to air pollution and a definite water policy for the Southland were expressed by Assemblyman Eugene G. Nisbet, who addressed the Upland Post of the American Legion, at the Legion club, last night.

The meeting also heard reports of Commander Sherman D. Bennett and other delegates who attended the Legion convention at San Diego in June.

Assemblyman Nisbet gave a report on the outstanding legislation of the past session. He dealt with uncompleted business as well as those bills which were brought to conclusion.

It was his opinion that it was one of the hardest working legislatures in years. A multitude of bills were covered after thorough screening, he said. Much of the chaff and the undesirable legislation was eliminated and satisfactory progress made in fields of good legislation.

He expressed some concern over the fact that no definite policy was set as to water and the formation of a unified state water department, which he considers most essential, "if we are to properly plan for delivery of this vital utility to the Southland."

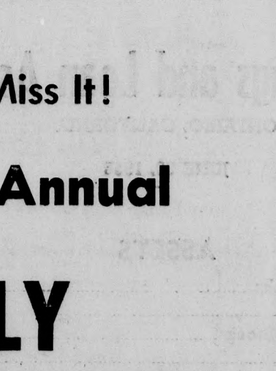

He said there is a necessity to obtain definite action on air pollution. This he claimed, is almost as essential to well-being as is economic success.

Mr. Nisbet explained that as a member of standing committees on conservation, planning and public works he sees a solution. He said that at this time interim committees are busy making studies on both the water problem and the air pollution problem. The committees of which he is a member have been assigned the task of finding a solution and he is confident this will be done.

The state congressman, a former Mayor of Upland and past commander of the Upland post, gave his hearers a resume of the work entailed in bringing bills through the various stages of preparation and voting they must pass through to become state laws.

Refreshments were served at the close of the business session.

Boy's Room Brightened

Open up those walls and let the sun shine in. Twin double-hung windows turn Junior's dark little bedroom into a sunny, cheerful place to sleep, study and play. The large glass areas make the room seem larger, too. Both windows and built-in desk are made of ponderosa pine, a smooth, light wood which is easy to decorate in any paint, stain, or varnish. Knocking out a section of the wall and installing windows may not be a job for the home handyman, but it generally can be done with comparatively little trouble and expense.

Five Western Moulding Employes Get Checks for Suggestions

In recognition of their practical suggestions helping plant efficiency, five employes of Western Mouldings, Inc., local industry, today have checks totaling $132.50.

Biggest check ever issued to an employe for this purpose went to Charles W. Chaffin, 758 N. Campus Ave., Ontario. He is in the roll forming department and his suggestion resulted in an improved method of material handling and packaging of towel bars. The company makes many chrome auto and household fixtures.

Four other employes, each received $10 checks. These went to Bobbie Lawson, Frank Michalovic, Buford Ware and Carroll Bell, all of Ontario.

The local company, 1111 E. 8th St., is rapidly expanding its number of employes to meet an increased demand for its products.

Kiwanians Hear Atomic Expert

Kiwanis members heard an expert on the dangers resulting from atomic bombs at their meeting Tuesday, at Sycamore Inn.

The speaker was Harold Merchant, chief radiological officer for district one San Bernardino county. Mr. Merchant illustrated his talk with pictures of the most recent atomic experiments at Yucca Flats.

He outlined necessary protective measures and pointed out that all within 10,000 feet of such explosions are in grave danger. He urged building of shelters and preparation of basement shelters where possible.

The program was arranged by Oren Decker and John Nicholson was the chairman.

Well Preserved Old Car Being Driven to Scene

into possession of the 1901 Cadillac.

Used Little

The man who had such confidence in the land didn't have it to the same degree about automobiles. Members of his family remember that although he bought the car he didn't use if very much. Some say he was afraid of it. It didn't respond in the same way as he horses he was used to driving.

Naturally it was a great innovation at the time and a temptation to some of the men who worked for him. One day when these employes were planning to go to San Bernardino on a gay outing they took the car without permission and went in adventurous style.

All went well until they were on their way back in the small hours of the morning. The Cadillac bogged down in the sand. There was nothing for them to do but leave it there.

The next day Mr. D. Haven, on an inspection of his property, missed the Cadillac. He thought it had been stolen. His workers then told him what they had done.

One Lunger

The one-cylinder Cadillac had to be pulled in five miles by horses. When it was safely home again Mr. Haven put it away, locked it up, and he never drove it again. He covered his fear of the horseless carriage by telling all who asked that the workmen who took it had ruined it.

Today, with the assistance of dry-cell batteries and a good strong arm on the business end of a crank it runs. It is quite a carriage and has suffered more from the curious visitors at the winery than it ever did in use. Many cannot resist the urge to investigate the engine which is under the front seat and to sit on the narrow cut-away front seat behind the high small wheel.

It's difficult to understand why some woman with an urge for antique carriage lamps hasn't made off with the precious pair on the dashboard.

Now had Mr. Haven been the dashing type pictured as touring in goggles and duster, frightening horses and stirring up the dust of the countryside, the distinction of having such a precious collector's item in the community would have been lost.

Mrs. H. H. Thomas, who was active in the business until her retirement, not long ago, was Mr. Haven's niece. Her husband came to Cucamonga from Iowa in 1912 and bought the old Tapia Rancho and winery.

A replica of the waterwheel, used in Spanish and Mexican times is in the courtyard, beneath the Mission grapes festooning the front of the main building.

There is probably no spot in the area that is as historically interesting as the building in which the old Cadillac sits. During Civil war days the owner, a man named Rains, was murdered. One man was lynched as a result and the murdered man's wife was also suspected and there was a plot to hang her. Later it was believed that the murder was because of rivalry over the sale of meat to the army. There are records showing that in earlier times Indians of the vicinity raided the rancho, killed calves and stole horses.

The Spaniard Tapia was the original owner. He built a house on the winery site but lived in Los Angeles. In Mexican times he traded with the Americans and British and became a wealthy merchant.

The home winery changed hands many times before the Thomas family bought it in 1912. Some of the original vines, planted in 1839, when Tapia was the owner, remained until a few years ago. All of the vines are from stock the Franciscan fathers brought from Spain, much earlier than that.

Hospital Gets High Approval

San Antonio Community hospital today has full approval of the nationally recognized commission on accreditation of hospitals.

The hospital was the object of a survey May 2 by the Commissioners of the Joint Commission on Accreditation, the sixth such survey in 23 years by the agency.

A report from the commission Tuesday said the local hospital had been awarded full accreditation.

Member organizations of the joint commission on accreditation of Hospitals are the American College of Physicians the American College of Surgeons, the American Hospital association, the American Medical Association and the Canadian Medical association.

Lions' Speaker Seeks Action

One of the counties business leaders didn't talk about business when he spoke at he meeting of the Upland Lions club in the Upland Woman's clubhouse at noon Thursday. He talked about men doing something with their time and abilities to help others and their communities.

William Fisher of the Southern California Gas Co., San Bernardino, said America is great because "we have placed our faith in God, not in men." European countries fell because people looked to men for leadership and when the men failed them, their faith was gone, he said.

"You Can Do Better," was the theme of his inspirational address and he related how difficult it is to get people to give of their time in helping character-building agencies and how quiet some leaders remain in the face of evil.

He charged that some men compromise their principles because of the fear of losing business or of hurting someone. Projects aiding the youth of the nation are the most important, he said, and he cited instances of men not being interested to help worthy local causes.

Robert Buchenau served as program chairman with President Harold Musser presiding.

Dr. Aita Tells Of Hospital's Free Services

mission. The amount of charity we have extended to our patients over the past five years totals over $130,000. The writer of last week's letter should look into the activities of the Sick Baby fund, the Free Bed fund, the Rheumatic Heart clinic and the Tumor board. That we are considered as a non-profit hospital by the Internal Revenue department should satisfy practically every thinking individual.

"Your communication came either from a newcomer or from someone not at all acquainted with our local hospital. For his information, the first air conditioning equipment was installed 18 years ago. Cooling units are to be found in some of the oldest rooms here, including the men's ward. Your informant, who prefers to communicate behind a mask, mentions big fees for rooms. He should know that our rates are $2.00 below hospitals in the inland area and $7 lower than rates charged by the hospitals in the metropolitan Los Angeles area.

Proud of Service

"We look upon San Antonio Community hospital's past service to the West End with pride. We know that we shall serve the area faithfully in the years to come and we shall conduct the affairs of your hospital in such a manner as to warrant your continued confidence.

"We regret that this has been the first occasion in our long association with hospitals that we have found it necessary to respond to an anonymous communication. Ethics is a word often abused, but, for the sake of ethics, we hope those who wish to communicate with the hospital in the future will have the character to identify themselves.

The third grade class, taught by Miss Martha Peters of Alta Loma, recited a series of catechism questions and answers.

The fourth graders, taught by Miss Metta Niswander, gave answers to their catechism questions and recited the ten commandments.

The fifth and sixth graders, taught by the Rev. Paul Goering, re-enacted two stories from the Bible, the parable of the Lost Son and Joseph and His Brothers.

Mrs. Harley Evers of Ontario, co-ordinator of the Bible school, reported an enrollment of 65 pupils with 10 denominations represented.

After the program an open house was held with parents and friends visiting the class rooms. Refreshments, furnished by members of the Serving Others Circle, were served to a large number of members and guests.

It takes only a small idea to occupy some minds to the exclusion of everything else.

Sharps and Flats

By Chuck Barlow

A perfectly morbid idea flashed in mind Sunday and it is one that could be the means of saving many lives.

One of the fatal accidents that clings in my mind happened at the intersection of San Bernardino and Turner Aves. During the many years I've kicked around newspapers the covering of traffic accidents has been an accepted routine assignment. Some of these have been gruesome indeed. But the one at Turner and San Bernardino Aves. seems to stand out by itself.

An Upland mother was killed in that crash and her two daughters were thrown from the car and seriously injured. The woman driving the other car narrowly escaped death and was returned to a mental hospital from where she was on parole at the time of the accident.

She was southbound on Turner Ave. and entered the intersection without regarding the stop sign. She did this on an intersection where a driver can see for a mile in any direction. The Upland mother was eastbound on San Bernardino Ave. and undoubtedly saw the southbound car on Turner, but figured the driver would observe the boulevard stop.

Tire skid marks on the pavement and the wreckage told its own story. The heavy eastbound car had swerved south to miss the southbound car but the maneuver was too late.

The door on the driver's side of the eastbound car was thrown open by the impact and the mother was thrown from the car. Her daughters were also thrown through the same door and into the storm drain ditch, eight feet deep along the east side of Turner Ave.

Killed Instantly

The mother fortunately never knew what happened — it happened too quickly. She was thrown from the car as it swerved, allowing the rear of the heavy machine to crash into the upright pipe railing guarding the storm ditch.

The mother was caught between the back of the car and the heavy pipe as she flew through the air.

She was crushed beyond recognition.

The other car jumped the concrete guard curb, turned on its side and skidded for 22 feet along the tops of the two concrete curbs. The door on the driver's side of this car came open dumping the woman driver into the deep storm drain ditch, with the two injured girls.

Perhaps the reason this sticks so tightly in my mind is the thought that struck me while I stood trying to reconstruct events immediately preceeding the accident. "What a needless, senseless waste of human life," I mused.

The southbound driver was on an errand so trivial, it was brought out later, that she could have postponed it for days. She had no reason to be in a hurry or attempt to grab the right-of-way from an oncoming car. She demonstrated the same thoughtlessness practiced every day by drivers on America's highways.

Stays in Mind

To give a small idea of how this accident has stuck in my craw, I can honestly say I never drive through this intersection without thinking of what I saw that day. When somebody is with me I invariably mention the accident and try to describe it.

Sunday I was returning from San Bernardino and swung around by South Bloomington to visit an ill friend. I left Highway 99 at Turner Ave. and drove north to San Bernardino Ave. to save a few blocks en route home. Two cars were ahead of me, both northbound, like myself.

At the San Bernardino Ave. stop sign the first car speeded up to get across the intersection ahead of an approaching eastbound car on San Bernardino Ave. Not to be outdone the driver of the second car stepped on the gas to clear the intersection ahead of the eastbound car. Of course, neither observed the stop sign.

Fortunately the driver of the eastbound car had good reflexes. He slammed on the brakes and swerved enough to avoid an accident. The two right-of-way violators went blithely on their way with nary a backward glance.

This is when that perfectly morbid idea struck me.

Why not post a reminder at these intersections where a life or lives had been snuffed out in traffic accidents.

Cross Bones, Skull

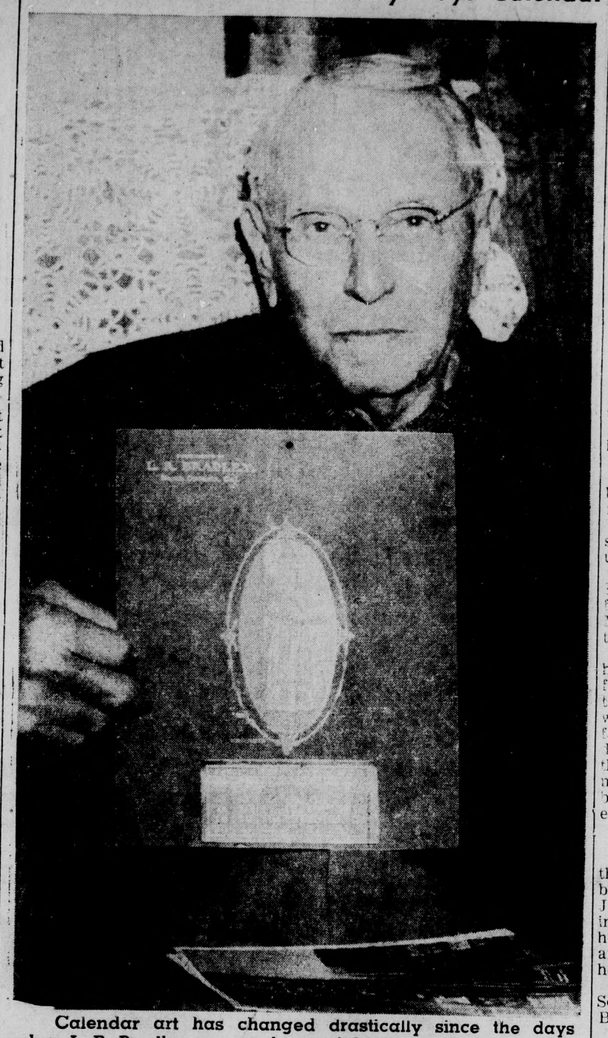

And the sign I visualized was a skull and cross bones, and the more realistic the better. Shape the sign to the outline of the skull and crossbones so the knobs on the bones will stand out against the soft evening twilight to remind those approaching the sign that death hovers near.

Paint the sign fore and aft so it can serve approaching traffic from two directions. Make it large enough to be noticeable at a distance. Make it as big as the bottom of a washtub if necessary to get across the story. No written text will be necessary.

Pioneer Merchant Has Early Days Calendar

Calendar art has changed drastically since the days when L. R. Bradley operated one of the first grocery stores in the community. He is shown here holding an unique souvenir of the early days. Long associated with the local citrus industry, Mr. Bradley now lives in retirement on his lemon ranch. He is one of the first students in the early day Chaffey college.

Upland Pioneer Merchant Believes in Future of Citrus Industry With Good Groves too Valuable to Subdivide

By Gerry McGeer

L. R. Bradley, who saw Upland grow from the sage brush, doesn't believe there's any danger of the community's popularity as a place to live ever enlangering the local citrus industry.

There's little about the citrus ndustry not familiar to Mr. Bradley. And there is little about Upland he isn't familiar with either.

In 1893 he graduated from the third senior class at Chaffey high school. He went to Chaffey junior college, which was a preparatory school for one year and to Stanford for a semester.

His family had moved to California in '84 from western Missouri. Born in Illinois, he doesn't remember much about that state because when he was three weeks of age the whole family and their household goods were off for Missouri in a covered wagon. An uncle, who lived in Los Angeles, next persuaded his father that San Jacinto would be a wonderful place to live. So in '84, when Mr. Bradley was 15 years of age, they arrived there to farm.

On a trip to Los Angeles to see his uncle young Bradley and his father saw Euclid Ave. The trees that make Euclid one of the world's most beautiful thoroughfares had an appeal at that early late. When the Bradley's sold their San Jacinto ranch they moved to Ontario. Mr. Bradley bought 2½ acres on J Street, east of Euclid Ave.

Goes Into Busines

After his semester at Stanford the young man joined his older brother, E. D. Bradley, at San Jacinto where the two engaged in the hardware business. In 1898 he married Miss Leonora Ellis and they made their first home here.

Old timers will remember the Sourwine grocery, which Mr. Bradley purchased.

Sourwine, according to Mr. Bradley, indicate the merchandise, but was the name of one of Upland's earliest grocers. Ralph's market, 197 S. Second Ave., is on the site today.

Of course, at that time it wasn't Upland. Second Ave. near A St. was in what was known as North Ontario.

There were two flies in the ointment in '99, as Mr. Bradley mildly tells it. "There was quite a strife on between Ontario and 'north of the tracks' " he said. "and times weren't so good. Collections in the grocery business were poor."

The Harwoods, a pair of progressive well-to-do brothers, were the prime movers 'north of the tracks'. They subdivided the original Upland townsite.

B. A. Woodford was manager of the O. K. Fruit Exchange. He later became manager of the California Fruit growers. His son-in-law, A. P. Harwood, was one of the brothers. The other brother, known as "Uncle" Charlie tive participant in the battle. He kept many of his Ontario customers when the heat of the battle died, but did, however, move his grocery business north of the tracks, he said.

Ontario countered the community spirit of Upland by taking in a strip land north of the tracks.

"Upland fought back," Mr. Bradley said.

The Harwoods established all the important citrus packing plants in the Upland area and this was cause for anger in Ontario.

The loss of the strip taken in by Ontario was never forgotten. It was a blow to the younger and smaller community because it took a lot of land off its tax roll. Few remember the details today, but the score was evened in 1935 when the owners of the area voted to annex to Upland.

Joins Citrus Industry

When Mr. Bradley moved into the present Upland area he put his stock into a building owned by Pat Gargen, the postmaster.

A few years later he moved to a new building owned by Amos Allen. He stayed there until 1905 when he sold out and made his

Uplanders See D. A. V. Rites

Mr. and Mrs. S. S. Myers, 1812 W. Foothill Blvd. will long remember the memorial services conducted for the Disabled Veterans who died in California during the last year, this event being a feature of the state D.A.V. convention they attended in Salinas.

She reported the candlelighted service was one of the highlights of the four-day conclave.

Mrs. Myers was commander of the Eighth district auxiliary last year and she reported on the wide range of activities in this area. Both Uplanders attended as delegates.

The delegates were taken to Fort Ord for a demonstration of weapons and a regimental review was also presented especially for them.

A long face often shortens your list of friends.

Sagehen Cafe Work Nearing Completion

Work of remodeling, redecorating and enlarging the Sage Hen cafe, W. Foothill Blvd., is nearly completed, Jay Snyder, owner-manager, reported yesterday.

A 50 foot addition to the dining room has been completed with new decorative features being added to the interior. Paving and placing of planters in the front of the building is planned but this phase of the work has been delayed due to a strike in the construction industry.

Mrs. Junior M. Oliver, 7837 N. Vineyard, Ave., Cucamonga is home again after five days in San Antonio Community hospital where she underwent surgery.

2-Mile Limit On School Busses

Since transportation cannot be given high school students within two miles of the campus, Upland high school officials today are studying a school bus transportation program for this area.

A check is being made of the area to establish the two-mile limit because free bus rides are available only to those students outside of this limit. Delbert Gibson is director of transportation for the Chaffey district bus system.

During the recent school year, he reported, 42 bus drivers were engaged in the transportation of 1,800 students without any personal injury to the passengers.

Debt . . . and Prosperity

How deeply in debt can an individual or a firm get and still be prosperous and on a solid foundation?

You have asked yourself and others that question, no doubt. Locally and throughout the southland, easy-to-buy long-term credit inducements prevail at every turn. And people accept these debt-inducing deals.

All of this means people are getting deeper in debt. Someone has said it is a side line of general prosperity. In fact, increasing debt helps many industries and firms to look as prosperous as they do.

The easy-pay home purchasing plan and one-the-cuff car buying are the biggest factors in "debt prosperity." Americans owe 111½ billion dollars on their cars, it is reported. Total installment credit went up 539 million dollars in April.

All of this borrowing tends to keep business booming. At the consumer level it means higher retail sales totals. At the corporate level it means expansion.

What will happen when retrenchment starts in some major industry or in the federal government's defense program? Of course, we don't like to think of that.

That is a very practical question, however. It must be faced.

Patience and Time Help

President Enisenhower has a way of winning over his opponents. In less than three years he has almost completely silenced General MacArthur, Joe McCarthy, and half the Democrats on Capitol hill, who used to rave about a military man not being qualified to serve in the White House.

Some Democrats will start up again, of course, with the election not too far away. But even so, President Eisenhower has many Democrats who are behind him.

At times it looks like the president may even be enjoying the 84th Democratic congress in a way more than he enjoyed the 83rd Republican congress. In the field of foreign policy, educational aid, defense and many other categories, the President gets more support from the Democrats than he did from his Republican majority last year.

In fact, he sees more eye to eye with many Democratic leaders than he does with William Knowland, the minority leader in the Senate. So, it apparently does not make too much difference who is in control of the Congress, Democrats or Republicans as far as Ike is concerned.

General Mac Arthur is seldom heard from. Colonel McCormick is dead. Bob Taft is dead, and Taft's former core of Ike-baiters dissipated. The president quietly rolls along and lets silence and time take care of his foes. It seems to be a deadly combination.

Harmful Charity

It is the natural, first impulse of very kind-hearted citizens to give to the relief of anyone who comes to them with a woeful tale or seeks succor for distress.

To do so, quite often is a mistake.

Many beggars are thus encouraged.

Upland Red Cross is urging the full cooperation of every individual and organization to the end that only the real needy are given help. At least, if help is given a family or an individual, the local office of the Red Cross would like to know about it. In other words, anytime you give take the next step and tell the Red Cross here of the circumstances. Better still, withhold your "giving" until you have a chance to check with the Red Cross.

The only purpose of this is to discourage the "professional" beggars, of which there are many. Sincere people really in need will readily understand any slight delay in getting help. The "professional" alms-seeker will hurriedly make an exit.

Red Cross officials here can recite many instances of easy-talking individuals, who go from place to place, getting contributions as they go.

Alms cannot be scattered wholesale. Generous people want their contributions only for the deserving needy; not for the selfish, greedy "thieves" who can play on our sympathies.

Time Passes

25 Years Ago

The Upland band was embarked on a nine weeks' program with outdoor concerts on D St. and Second Ave. Fred Wilding was the director and G. A. Brest the manager.

Cecil Myers was installed as president of the 20-30 club. E. Tweed Stone was vice-president and Harlan Horak the secretary treasurer.

Fred H. Jacobs was showing some improvement after an automobile crash in which he suffered injuries paralyzing him from the waist down. The accident was on June 8.

The last week of June a record lemon crop went to market. There was a total of 5108 cars for the season with over 600 during the last week in June.

It was front page news when Robert Sawyer was the first to shoot 44 on the new Robinhood miniature golf course. Par was 45.

Floyd Atwood, Jack D. Howe, Earl E. Marsh, Thomas E. Howarton, and David Bradfield were named delegates to the American Legion convention at Sacramento. The club had 125 members, the required number for five delegates. The alternates were Gene Nisbet, William Larkin, Allan Abarr, Glen Hipes and Francis Rogers.

There was a possibility the city would place traffic signals on Foothill boulevard at Upland avenue to permit local residents more freedom in crossing the boulevard.

The Upland City council went on record as opposed to hanging political banners across streets and moved to prohibit such action.

15 Years Ago

Skippy, the black and white dog of Charles Deverts, mail carrier, was going along for the walk on his master's 22 mile daily hike delivering the mail. Skippy and his master got along well with all the dogs on the route and Mr. Deverts, who knew them all, was an expert at locating lost pets.

Construction of the Cal-Aero corporation buildings being rushed to completion civic officials of Upland and Ontario were getting ready to welcome air school officials at the project. The first training class of cadets was expected to number 600.

C. E. Christopher, the justice of the peace from Alhambra, was slated to appear before Judge Fred H. Jacobs on a traffic charge.

Apricot drying yards were operating at Cucamonga where 300 acres of apricots had been harvested.

Property north of Seventh St. on Euclid Ave. was being cleared for homes. A 300 deep swath of orange trees had been cut down. The first home on the tract was built by H. G. Krinard.

Seven persons were killed in this vicinity during the holiday. Sleeping drivers were responsible for two accidents and drunkenness the cause of the other. In one car, which hit a cement truck, six people died.

The City's business position was reviewed at a council meeting and the scope of departmental activities revealed. The bank balance was $99,246.67. There were 1,557 traffic arrests during the year, 44 of which were for drunken driving. There were 75 automobile accidents.

Fines collected in Judge Mildred R. Puckett's court totalled $1,025.50.

Fred E. Draper received a mysterious letter inviting him to share in a $240,000 treasure contained in a trunk in Mexico. The postal authorities labelled it a "Spanish Swindle".

The legs of the grebe are placed far back on its body.

THIS LIFE WE LIVE

James V. Latimer.

By James V. Latimer
This is to live:

My sister writes well, even though she does live near Chicago. She recently sent me some of her brain children, and this one interested me, so I give it to
you. She said,

I saw a mountain peak supremely grand;
I watched an ant toiling with a grain of sand;
Then I saw a baby smile
I knew that I had lived awhile.
If I can see God's hand in lofty peaks
And in the instincts of each lowly life;
If in the babe some hopefulness I find
To meet the challenges of life,
In Science or in Art or in some humble man —
A son, husband, father yet to be —
Then I know that I have fully lived.

SHARPS AND FLATS

Ralph Palmer. I sprung this idea on them the other day.

Both agreed it would do much to call attention of lax drivers to the fate of less fortunate drivers of bygone days.

Chief Paulin described a trip he took through a neighboring state where white crosses are used to denote the spot of a fatal accident.

"We were driving through the desert and I was rolling right along. Out in that desert, miles from any habitation, a patch of white alongside the roadway ahead caught my eyes. As I approached I made out a cluster of these white crosses where a number of people died in an accident. Although I wasn't driving at a reckless speed by any means the sight of those white crosses automatically made me slow down without realizing it," Chief Paulin said.

Some drivers evidently don't believe in signs, such as are in use today. But I have the first person to hear about who ever drank out of a bottle with a cross bones and skull on the label unless they wanted to ring down the curtain. People have a lot of respect for the grisly warning.

Some will say such a sign is too gruesome for highway purposes.

Let these same people spend a little time with those assisting at daily accident scenes and they will see what the word gruesome really means.

If a gruesome sign will prevent another lifeless crushed mass of humanity, then I'm for it.

L. R. Bradley Tells of Past

first adult connection with the citrus industry, working as a bookkeeper for the OK Fruit exchange where he stayed about four years.

The pioneering strain was strong in the man who started his travels at three weeks. The Bradleys took up a claim in the Imperial Valley east of Brawley Harwood, who lived to be 103, was president of the Upland Lemon Growers Association.

It was this combination that led to the incorporation of Upland. Mr. Bradley wasn't an acwhere they farmed for two years. Lack of schools caused the family to return to Upland. The education of three Bradley daughters was of prime importance.

Mr. Bradley became the first manager of the Upland Heights Orange Assn. and in 1916 he went to the Upland Lemon Growers Assn. He stayed there until 1942 as manager when he retired.

It was under his direction that the association built present buildings. The first of the buildings, the $100,000 packing plant, was cause for a great turn-out at open house in 1935.

Those who fear that this area might lose the industry that gave it wealth, fine homes and a good payroll needn't worry. The man who has seen good days and bad times, boom and depression says that the citrus industry will remain. The good citrus land is not being subdivided . . . it's too valuable.

Poultrymen to Hear William Knowland

Speaker at the meeting of the Alta Loma Heights Farm Bureau Poultry center Tuesday night will be William Knowland of the University of California poultry division, according to Stewart Fleming, chairman. The meeting will be held in the Sycamore Inn.

With an open discussion to follow, Mr. Knowland will explain the latest developments in the poultry industry as indicated by the research laboratories at the university. All poultrymen in the area are invited to attend.

Citrus Sales, Prices Down

Cool weather across the nation concerns local citrus growers. People are not buying Valencia oranges and lemons, thus prices continued to move lower, according to a report from the Sunkist Growers.

Sales of Valencias by last week totaled about 765 cars, an increase of 70 cars over the week earlier. Average prices declined to around $3.85 per box f.o.b. on sales made in interstate channels.

Prorate for the week ending July 10 was set at 900 cars from Southern California by the Valencia Orange Administrative committee.

Although some areas have had fairly high daytime temperatures generally cool nights and rainy weather have restricted the demand for lemons. Sales by Sunkist Growers during the week ending July 1 declined to about 480 cars, a drop of some 75 from the previous week. Prices remained unchanged, averaging around $5.30 per box f.o.b.

Boy Scout Camp in High Sierras Now in Use; Volunteers Donate 4,110 Hours on Construction

The large gifts division of the current drive for funds to finance installation of a Boy Scout camp in the High Sierras and a headquarters near Claremont still lacks $455 of completion, Howard Mason, chairman of the committee, said recently.

Work parties since the first of the year have brought the camp to a s ate of near completion that will permit its use as a summer camp this year. First boys arrived at the camp last week, he said.

Many men from the Upland area have donated hours of time to the work parties that made the camp possible. Labor was donated by men living in the area embraced by the Old Baldy Council, he said.

From he council area 274 men have voluntarily worked on the new Circle B Scout ranch 4,100 man hours to complete it for use this summer. This work covered 10 week ends and was donated by carpenters, plumbers, roofers, electricians, truckers, cooks, steel construction men, cement men, surveyors, health department men and men willing to do whatever was asked, Mr. Mason said.

Big Project

More than 4,000 square feet of cement was poured, a 10,000 gallon water tank erected, 2,215 bolts put in place and one and one-quarter miles of two-inch water pipe laid underground. Also installed were three culverts under the roadway with necessary filling for completion and a commissary and kitchen erected complete with cabinet work. A cabin to house cooks was also built and two tanks designed to hold 1,600 gallons of butane installed and piped to kitchen and boiler. Also ready for use is the recently constructed shower building with 20 showers, six toilets and dressing room as well as a room for leaders and a boiler room. A complete electrical system was installed for all camp units, two large septic tanks were placed and leech lines started.

Fourteen tons of water pipe were hauled to the camp and two buildings completely plumbed and work was done through snow, rain and sunshine.

Work parties will continue right on through the camping season. Men wanting to contribute their labor and skill and have a hand in building a real adventure camp for young men should contact the Old Baldy Council Office in Pomona.

Largely as a result of this tremendous contribution of volunteer labor, services and equipment, it has been possible to bring the camp to its present stage of development at a minimum of expense.

The money being raised in the current Old Baldy Council campaign is not being used for camp development but for the purchase of the 440 acres on which the camp is being constructed, and for the new council administrative and training center building to be built in Claremont adjacent to the freeway.

Brownies Learn Scouting Crafts at San Antonio Park

Mary Jane Varnado, Theresa Lucier, Karen Reinhardt, Marilyn Keane and Jo Anne Smith are just five of the Brownie Scouts who have been having the time of their lives at the Brownie Day Camp at San Antonio park. Literally scores of Brownies and their leaders have taken to the outdoor life perfecting their scouting and craft skills. The girls go to the camp by bus at 8 a.m. and return home in the late afternoon. All cooking is done over camp fires and lunch is the highlight of the day.

Family Picnic For Mariners Friday

The Mariners Yacht Club of the First Presbyterian church will have a steak fry, Friday evening, at Los Angeles County park, San Dimas. It will be a family picnic with the steak ready at 6:30 p. m.

Members will contribute the steaks for their families and the committee will furnish the trimmings, according to James C. Stamm, Jr., who shares the office of skipper with Mrs. Stamm.

The affair is in the hands of Mr. and Mrs. George Beardmore and their crew.

Euclid is Jammed for Annual Picnic, Parade

70,000 Unite For Old-Time Picnic, Parade

With the kindly help of the weatherman in providing a cool, refreshing holiday atmosphere, many thousands of persons lined Euclid avenue Monday to participate in Ontario's All-States picnic. The long, varied and colorful parade was the highlight of the entertainment but the principal feature was bringing together visitors by states to form the celebrated "longest picnic table in the world."

An estimated 70,000 people were in attendance, most of them together at one time in partaking of an old-style family picnic dinner. The annual Iowa picnic is a famous event in the southland.

Better Than Iowa

The All-States picnic was like the Iowa picnic except about 47 times more interesting and varied, since the throng united by states down the center of the Euclid parkway beginning at Sixth street, Ontario, and ending at C street.

Headed by winsome Beverly Seabold of Pomona, the parade queen, the procession proceeded south down Euclid. City Councilman Donald C. Carr represented the Upland municipality with many residents from the Upland-foothill region in attendance.

In alphabetical procession queens and floats from the various states appeared in the parade line. A feature of the late afternoon program was a colorful Mexican Fiesta on the plaza at Chaffey college and a fiddlers' contest. Miss Eleanor Navarro, queen of Mexico, presided over the fiesta.

Pierre Sebastian, left, and his staff at the House of Beauty are ready for summer weather. Pierre believes customers will feel cooler with operators working on them who are dressed for the season! The rest of the staff pictured in the patio at the rear of the shop where summertime beauty treatments will be given are, left to right, Terry Sebastian, Maxwell, Bilton and Ardene Nichols.

Mary Greco to Live In "Spanish House" On College Campus

Mary E. Greco, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Greco, 9006 S. Hellman Ave., Cucamonga, will live in a "Spanish House" to be established this fall on the Pomona college campus. Eight students have been chosen to live in the re-established house, converse in Spanish, sponsor Spanish activities on the campus and host meetings of the college Spanish club.

Miss Greco is a junior at Pomona college, having been graduated by Chaffey high school in 1953.

In addition to the students, a house mother and a native Argentinian will live in the Spanish house.

Also on the campus will be a French house.

Orange Crop To Be 85 Per Cent Normal, View

Judged by the present conditions, the 1956 orange navel crop here and throughout the county will be about 85 per cent normal, Harold A. Crane, the county agricultural commissioner, said yesterday.

The usual 'June drop" is later this year due to the late bloom and weather conditions but in general, the outlook is about the same now as a year ago.

As to lemons, not much fruit is in the groves to be picked for the remainder of the season although the ripening fruit in "the Upland area looks very promising," according to Mr. Crane, adding: "the crop volume to be harvested in the county for the next three months or so is estimated at 55 per cent normal. There was a heavy bloom during May and although there has been a heavy drop, the young growing crop looks very good."

The weather is also adversely affecting the grape crop, according to the official. Noticeably short will be the crop in Grenache and Carignane varieties. It is estimated there will be approximately an 80 per cent crop of grapes in the county this fall.

County acreages by citrus varieties follow: navels, 18,038; Valencias, 9,308; grapefruit, 2,296 and lemons, 5,650. Grape acreage totals 27,818.

7 Signed For Soap Box Derby

With the district finals in the annual Soap Box derby next week, increasing interest was being shown today in the event being conducted by the Alan A. Couch Chevrolet agency.

Signed up and ready to go are the following entrants:

Conrad W. Lingenfelder, 346 Van Ness Ave.; Patrick J. Gillespie, 360 S. Laurel Ave.; Donald V. Johnson, 292 N. 9th Ave.; David Crockett, 6283 Haven Ave., Alta Loma; Tommy Strack, 7627 Buena Vista, Cucamonga; Raymond Wingerd, 239 N. San Antonio Ave. and Don Nissly, 662 N. San Antonio Ave.

A meeting of all interested youth was held last week at the Couch agency. District winner, chosen in races in San Bernardino July 16, will go to the national finals in Ohio.

RECEIVES TREATMENT

William E. Tull, Sr., 384 West St., is home again after receiving treatment in San Antonio Community hospital for six days last week.

Two Agricultural Experiments Under Way

New Citrus Spray, Growing of Yule Trees are Being Studied

Results of agricultural experiments on two projects, one in Alta Loma and one in Etiwanda, are being watched closely.

Herbert Alvarado, foreman of Yai Bros. lemon grove in Alta Loma, is experimenting with "Urea," a new development in spraying for pests. He used urea at the rate of five pounds with each 100 gallons of water in spraying two blocks of trees last winter. Now, he is getting ready to spray only one block with a second application. He will note the difference in production between the two blocks to determine if one or two applications is best.

At present both blocks are in a better condition than other parts of the grove, he has told Farm Advisor Ellis Faulhaber. Mr. Faulhaber has also been asked if urea could be combined with one of the red spider insecticides. The reply given the Alta Loma rancher is "yes".

Production records are available on both blocks of trees and th future records will be observed with interest.

Tree Planting Project

Christmas trees planted this spring on George Hoppe's Etiwanda ranch show real promise. The trees are being checked by Farm Advisor Chet Hemstreet for growth and form. He believes they will grow on soil too sandy for best citrus, and require less water. The two men agree that the trees were planted too late for best results. North winds dried some up before they rooted down.

Christmas trees may be one answer for lands short on water but where high incomes per acre are needed. The answer may be known definitely five years from now.

200 Youths In Baptist School

Two hundred youngsters attended the First Baptist church Daily Vacation Bible school with commencement exercises being held last week. Mrs. J. R. Cunningham was director of the school, assisted by Mrs. Marshall Hutchins and the Rev. Charles McMahill, pastor.

In charge of the nursery were Mrs. Alan Yaple and Joyce Pope. Supervisors in the kitchen were Mesdames Jack Butler, J. I. Payne, Leon Ezell and Chester Poole.

Faculty members included the following. Mesdames George Forsen, L. K. Butler, Dale Jennings, Horace Smart, Howard Smothers, Robert Mallard, Richard Wells, Elby Zigler, Alton Pope, Marvin Edwards, Buford Childers, Alvin Spears, Don Gilson, Jack Roper, Charles Crosby, Paul Culpepper, Sally Thraser, Anton K. Dobish, Kenneth Carter, Glen Jarvis, Don Ritter.

Carl Barwise; John Banks, Charles MacMahill, Marshall Hutchins, Houston Byers, Thurman Byers, Lee Jennings and the Misses Patty Smothers, Alice Norman, Clista Smith and Nelda Culpepper.

Leviticus Verse Science Theme

A verse from Leviticus:19-2, will be the Golden Text of the lesson sermon at the semi-annual communion service in the Ontario Christian Science church Sunday. Sacrament will be the subject.

The text is, "Speak unto all the congregation of the Children of Israel, and say unto them, Ye shall be holy: for I the Lord your God am holy."

Jesus' proof of eternal life in his triumph over the grave will be stressed in the communion service.

With a common defense the western democracies come close to beginning something like a federal union.

College Men Give Year's Service to European Relief

Paul Boyer and John Raser, two Upland college sophomores with outstanding records at college, will go to Germany to engage in relief work there.

The pair earned many laurels as speakers in local Pi Kappa Delta chapter activities. Raser was business manager of The Spotlight and the college annual, Echo. Mr. Boyer was student body president and editor of The Sparton Spotlight. He has returned to his home in Dayton, O. before going to Germany later this month.

Mr. Raser is visiting his family in Dallas Center, Iowa, before leaving for Germany.

The pair will serve under Pax and will help in the relief work of the Mennonite Central Committee, as well as in the construction of homes. They will pay their own fare to Europe. While there, they will receive their room and board and $10. monthly. They will remain in Europe for one year.

Last year the league assisted the clinic to the extent of over $2,000.

Many problems in connection with the Cucamonga Youth Center were also discussed, as were the needs of the center which the League supports.
